

CONTEMPORARY WESTERN INDIA
BY
EMILIA BACHRACH
Assistant Professor of Religion, Gender, Sexuality
& Feminist Studies
Oberlin College & Conservatory

temporary western India. She also works with oral and written texts in early modern and modern languages, including Braj Bhasha, Awadhi, Gujarat, and Hindi. Her writing has appeared in the Journal of American Studies, Journal of South Asian Studies, and Journal of World Religions, among others. Her forthcoming publications include Reading the Body: A History of the Female in Early Modern India, which will be published by Mapin Publishing in 2018. She is currently working on a

THURSDAY APRIL 26TH, 2018
4:00PM
BIRKS HERITAGE CHAPEL
3520 UNIVERSITY STREET, 2ND FLOOR